1. During the night of 6 January 1950 a dynamite charge with a clock fuse was reportedly found in a drain pipe of the Vinko Krstulovic Shipyards in Split. The dynamite charge, containing fifteen pounds of explosives, was set to explode at 3:00 a.m., 7 January.
2. An investigation by the UDB produced no concrete results. Yugoslav authorities believe that it was the work of Italian Cominformist workers in the shipyard, but made no arrests. The attempted sabotage was attributed by dock workers to the seamen from of two unidentified ships in port at the time. The Yugoslav Government is suppressing the news of the attempted sabotage.
